Overview of the NSW ESP

The NSW Department of Communities and Justice's Engagement and Support Program (ESP) is an intervention program within NSW's countering violent extremism strategy.

A voluntary program, the ESP aims to assist individuals make positive behavioural changes to limit their risk of participating in violent extremism. The program includes a detailed risk assessment process which informs eligibility and development of a support program tailored to the individual's needs.

The Program is supported by many government agencies who provide expertise from various disciplines. This includes specialists from various divisions across the Department of Communities and Justice in the areas of Child Protection, Corrective Services, Community Corrections, Youth Justice as well as NSW Police, the Department of Education, NSW Health, and the Australian Federal Police.

The program employs a holistic case management approach to working with individuals to address identified needs, risks and strengthen protective factors. Caseworkers take a strengths-based and trauma-informed approach to their work, helping to divert people who are vulnerable to violent extremism, others that support or advocate violent extremism, and others who have engaged in violent extremism.
